Wild Arts: Summer Creative Arts Camp offers 5th through 8th graders opportunities to develop dance, visual arts and theater skills in a nurturing environment. Inspired by their own creativity and daily workshops, participants create art, craft theater scenes and learn choreography for a culminating performance. Wild Arts is a half-day program, four days per week for five weeks at Lincoln Center Middle School of the Arts, with offsite experiences at Turners Gymnasium and the Milwaukee Art Museum. Wild Arts supports physical, emotional and intellectual development, while offering a creative alternative to unsupervised and potentially dangerous situations

WHS developed the People and Animals Learning (PAL) program in 1993 to help build confidence, self-efficacy and empathy in young people through structured interactions with animals. PAL focuses on underserved youth who are nominated by a teacher or social worker, and roughly 36 young people are selected each summer to participate. Through PAL, children acquire the skills necessary to understand emotions, achieve positive goals, feel and show empathy for others, establish positive relationships, and make responsible decisions. Animals provide a natural conduit to socio-emotional learning to allow children to grow their pro-social skills in a fun and structured environment.
